[The following text is extremely faint and illegible due to low contrast and blurring. It appears to consist of several lines of handwritten or printed script.]

Handwritten text in a script, likely Tibetan, arranged in approximately 12 horizontal lines. The text is written in dark ink on a light-colored background. The script is cursive and dense, with many characters appearing to be syllables or small words. The lines are roughly parallel, though some show slight variations in alignment. The overall appearance is that of a manuscript or a collection of notes.

[The image shows two pages of handwritten text in Devanagari script. The handwriting is dense and cursive, typical of older Indian manuscripts. The left page contains approximately 10 lines of text, while the right page contains about 8 lines. The ink appears dark, possibly black or dark brown, on a light-colored paper. There are some faint markings and what might be bleed-through from the reverse side of the pages.]
